

Says Employees Of Reds Eligible For Social Security

Ends Long Legal Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employees of the Communist party are eligible for social security, a government legal officer ruled Friday.

This apparently ended a long dispute over whether employees of the party and its affiliates work for a foreign government in a legal sense. The Social Security Act excludes from coverage "services performed in the employ of a foreign government."

The Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance ruled last year that the Communist party was an arm of a foreign government and that services performed for it could not be used as a basis for Social Security benefits.

With a blast at communism, Referee Peter J. Hoegen of the Social Security Administration Friday reversed the bureau. His ruling is subject to possible review by an Appeals Council, but Welfare Department officials said they thought such a review is unlikely.

Hoegen said Communist dictatorship, or any other kind of dictatorship, means "the rule of man rather than government by law."

But he said "democracy provides due process of law to our enemies, as well as to our friends, and guarantees equal protection of the law to all."

Hoegen's ruling specifically applied to seven Communist party employees whose eligibility for social security benefits had been under review. They include William F. Foster, national chairman of the Communist party.

Huge Hot Zone Shrinks On U.S. Weather Man

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The huge hot zone shrunk in size on the U. S. weather map Friday.

A cool front, moving eastward, gave Kansas and Nebraska temperatures in the 70s. Readings above 100 had been reported in that region 24 hours earlier.

Cooler air also advanced southward toward the Great Lakes area and New England, heralding welcome relief.

But the heat still was on from the Great Plains to the Atlantic Seaboard. That large area also had a scattering of showers and thunderstorms. A storm dumped more than three inches of rain on Columbus, Ind., in a three-hour period.

The mercury got up into the 90s again in some parts of the diminishing hot belt.

The male cowbird is about eight inches long.

French Smash Rebel Hideout In Algeria, Kill 1, Capture 69

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — A French armored column and an infantry battalion Friday smashed a rebel hideout mountain base 20 miles southwest of Tiemem. The French killed 1 rebel and captured 69.

The French units caught the rebels by surprise near the Beni-Baahet Dam, in an area near the Moroccan frontier.

Another detachment of French troops clashed with a rebel band near Dar el Mizan, in the Kabylie Mountains about 40 miles south of Tizi Ouzou and 60 miles southeast of Algiers. The French killed five rebels.

In the south, on the edge of the Sahara Desert, a French patrol caught a large rebel group in the Sahari Mountains southwest of Bou Saaba and north of Guelila. The rebels fled, leaving six dead.

Meanwhile, the French announced that troops and police had smashed an important rebel network at Bougie in eastern Algeria.

About 8,000 persons were seized temporarily in the coastal town 140 miles east of here, and 800 were held for further questioning.

An official said among those arrested were 28 known rebel leaders who had been sought for months, and 33 others who were charged with hiding arms and other weapons taking part in the 19-month rebellion.

Strong detachments of troops joined police in surrounding the Arab quarter of Bougie last night and in carrying out the search today.

Officials said the 28 leaders were the mainstay of a whole series of attacks on French settlements and Arabs friendly to the French throughout the Kabylie Mountain area and Soummam Valley.

Under the plan, the passenger service on the line between Chicago and western suburbs eventually would be taken over by the Chicago Transit Authority or another railroad.

C. A. & E. eastbound runs have been halted in suburban Forest Park since September 1953. Westbound runs have started at the same point since then. The CTA hauls the commuters to and from Forest Park.

The Congress Street Expressway is being built west from Chicago's Loop on the C. A. & E. route. In the course of construction within the city the tracks used by the C. A. & E. were lowered from an elevated trestle to the ground. The C. A. & E. then stopped service short of the city, and moved to get entirely out of the passenger business.

Gov. Stratton this spring proposed a plan to assure continued rail service on the route. He suggested that the state, county and city buy the section of the right-of-way that will be used for the expressway. The price would be $4 million dollars.

He also proposed that the state pay an additional $3,780,000 for an option to buy the remainder of the C. A. & E. passenger facilities, exclusive of the rolling stock.

India's population is growing at the rate of five million per year.

Furious Because Wife Left Him, Kills Three People

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A truck driver, furious because his common-law wife left him last week, Thursday night shot to death her two sisters and a teen-age girl he never knew.

Three posers of 50 to 60 men Friday hunted for Alfred Wilson, 37. When he was released from jail earlier this week on an assault and battery charge pressed by his wife, Wilson vowed:

"This is the last time you'll get me alive."

The victims, each killed at a different spot along a 30-mile death route in rural Ohio, were: Mrs. Geraldine Brown, 30, Wilson's sister-in-law and mother of two children, shot once in the head at her home in Leavittsburg.

Mrs. Hazel Bots, 32, another sister-in-law, and mother of three children, shot twice with a German Luger in her home at Cortland.

Nancy Worthington, 16-year-old Leavittsburg High School student, kidnapped, beaten and shot. She was on her way home from a school homecoming with two boys when Wilson blocked the road and grabbed her in his mad search for getaway money.

Wilson's wife, Juanita, 35, was at the Bots home when Wilson showed up. She locked herself up in the bathroom to protect herself and was not harmed.

Trumbull County officials took Mrs. Wilson and two of her children, Sandra Louis and Alfred Jr., into protective custody.

Mrs. Wilson's mother, Mrs. Anna Wentworth, said the Wilsons had not been married to each other but had lived for several years as man and wife.

This is the way Sheriff T. Herbert Thomas of Trumbull County pieced together the bloody tale.

Wilson approached the Browns home shortly after 9 o'clock Thursday night. He asked Mrs. Brown to use the telephone and when she hesitated, he shot her once through the left side of the head. She dropped dead.

The berserk truck driver then drove to the Bots home. There were 10 persons there at the time including Mrs. Bots.

Mrs. Bots walked into the living room when Wilson approached. He fired once through the glass in the door, then ran to a picture window in the living room and fired again. The bullets struck Mrs. Bots in the chest.

After midnight, the truck driver accosted a car caught in a county road dead-end. Thomas E. Heidelberg, 17, and Arthur C. Johnson, 17, high school students, got out of their car and asked Wilson to move. He refused and asked if they had any money. They said no. Wilson discovered Nancy was in the car. He said he would hold her until they went down the road to get some money.

Republicans Choose Arthur Langlie As Convention Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans Friday chose Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington as their GOP National Convention keynote.

They also got a prediction from their national chairman that President Eisenhower will remain in the race for a second term.

Chairman Leonard W. Hall replied "not the slightest" when reporters asked whether he thinks there is "even the faint possibility" Eisenhower might quit the race.

Hall made plain he had had no word from the President. He said Eisenhower "always speaks for himself very frankly." He declined, however, to guess whether Eisenhower might issue a new statement on his candidacy as a result of his recent intestinal operation.

Hall said Eisenhower had approved before he was stricken with illness a lineup of convention officials including Langlie as keynote. Sen. William F. Knowland of California as temporary chairman and Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts as permanent presiding officer. These selections were approved today by the party's 46-member Arrangements Committee.

Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut was selected as chairman of the platform-drafting Resolutions Committee.

Bush, like Langlie, is a candidate for the Senate. Both the Washington governor and the Connecticut senator have been listed as strong supporters of Eisenhower.

Hall told newsmen he has no doubt the ticket nominated at San Francisco will be President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

"You can paste the names of Eisenhower and Nixon in your hats," he said.

The choice of Langlie and Bush for key convention posts indicated the emphasis Republicans are laying on the campaign to regain control of the Senate. Langlie got into the race against Democratic Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington at the urging of Eisenhower. Bush was unanimously renominated by Connecticut Republicans in their state convention this week.

Bush, a Wall Street investment banker, is a partner of the firm of Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., of which Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, a candidate to the Democratic presidential nomination, is a member.

Tavern Owner Charged With Manslaughter

BELLEVIEW, Ill. (AP) — A tavern proprietor has been charged with manslaughter in the shooting early today of Gus Gilefort, about 62 years old.

State's Atty. Richard T. Carter said the charge was against Walter Engles, 51, proprietor of a tavern at Illinois routes 13 and 137 in Centerville Township.

The St. Clair County sheriff's office said the shooting took place outside of the tavern and that Engles signed a statement admitting shooting Gilefort four times in self defense.

No GOP's Defend Remark

WASHINGTON (AP) — The biggest storm of his career blew up around Secretary of Defense Wilson Friday as senator after senator denounced him for calling congressional moves to boost Air Force funds "phony."

Democrats demanded his head. Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, top Republican on the Armed Services Committee, accused him of "an unwarranted slur on senators." No Republican arose to defend his remark.

Whether the episode would lead to a White House crackdown on Wilson—or even imperil his Cabinet post—was not immediately apparent.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader, said Wilson's remarks were "revolting to all patriotic Americans."

At least three senators who joined in the angry talk accused the outspoken defense chief of again, as they put it, getting his foot in his mouth.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), a former secretary of the Air Force and a possibility for the Democratic presidential nomination, told the Senate:

"The usefulness of this Cabinet member has come to an end." Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) observed that he had said much the same thing three years ago, and described Wilson this way:

"He is a very busy man—busy half the time putting his foot in his mouth, and busy the other half of the time trying to get it out."

It remained to be seen how President Eisenhower—who specializes in not getting people mad—would look upon Wilson's newly demonstrated penchant for riling a lot of people. There was no immediate comment from Walter Reed Hospital.

The big ruckus comes at a time when the administration is seeking to clear the decks for the election campaign. Democrats gave (Continued on Page Eleven)

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — A drive to raise $15,000 for a development plan for this city was announced Friday by Alfred Geiger, chairman of the East St. Louis Improvement Committee.

The announcement came after a meeting between Geiger and Delyte W. Morris, president of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

The study would embrace traffic and housing problems and would include a canvass of individual and area resources. Funds will be solicited from industry and individuals.

Reds Wind Up 4 State Tour In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two touring Russians—miffed by Missouri's heat-trailled by the FBI and ignorant of Marilyn Monroe—wound up an extensive tour of four states here Friday.

The Russians, members of the Soviet Embassy staff in Washington, traveled Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas and Missouri.

They arrived here after an airplane trip from Joplin, Mo., a city in the southwestern part of the state.

During their tour they had been friendly enough in insisting they had nothing to say, but at Lambert-St. Louis Field Friday they became somewhat irritated and beth muttered "no comment" to reporters.

Then they stalked from their plane and into the airport restaurant for some iced tea without stopping to pick up their luggage.

They returned by plane to Washington Friday night.

The tourists are Lt. Col. Boris Bogatyrev, assistant air attaché, and Lt. Alexander Okhapin, an administrative secretary.

They spent Thursday night and part of Friday in Joplin and did there what they have done at every other city on their itinerary—displayed a keen interest in everything they saw and asked for copies of all the local maps and industrial promotion matter they could get their hands on.

Agents of the FBI have followed the Russians everywhere on the four-state tour.

A Joplin physician who speaks Russian talked with the tourists and the first thing they asked was: "Is it always warm here like this?" It was in the 90s Friday in Missouri.

Illinois Man Sentenced For German Murder

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A U. S. 5th Corps court martial Friday sentenced 19-year-old Pfc. William Stitt of Avon, Ill., to life imprisonment for strangling a German girl last June 3.

Stitt pleaded guilty to non-premeditated murder.

He testified he was taking a walk with the girl, 23-year-old Inge Vogel, near Fulda, when the girl grabbed his silk scarf and put it around her neck.

"I got this scarf from my hometown girl friend, Nancy, before I came over to Europe," Stitt told the court. "When I saw the girl playing with my scarf I got infuriated and strangled her with it."

Steel Industry Reports May Start Cooling Off Furnaces

NEW YORK (AP) — The Steel industry said Friday it will be forced to start cooling its furnaces Wednesday or Thursday "if the union persists in its announced intention to strike."

John A. Stephens, U. S. Steel vice president, made the statement in behalf of 11 steel firms.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steel Workers, said Thursday the union had sent instructions "equally applicable to a strike or lockout" to all its locals for use in event of a shutdown when present contracts expire June 30 at midnight.

Cooling of the furnaces takes three or four days to prevent cracking and extensive damage to equipment.

At the core of the contract dispute is management insistence that a new contract cover a five-year period. The union has rejected this but hasn't said how long a term it will accept. Past contracts have been for two years, with a yearly wage reopener.

Stephens appeared before newsmen and television cameras just before management and union negotiating teams met in their latest attempt to resolve the impasse.

The meeting lasted two hours and ended without comment from either side. Another meeting was scheduled for Saturday.

Stephens denied a charge by McDonald that the 11 companies had conspired to force a shutdown by presenting a five-year "take-it-or-leave-it" ultimatum to the union.

"Nothing could be farther from the truth," said Stephens. "The steel companies do not want a shutdown. Their business is production. It is the union that calls strike—not the companies."

Stephens' statement was signed by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic of Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Inland Great Lakes, Wheeling, Pittsburgh, Allegheny Ludlum and Armco.

May Cut Armed Forces Manpower Says Wilson

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson raised the possibility Friday of a cut in the armed forces manpower, which now totals about 2,635,000.

He discussed the situation, in general terms only, with reporters after the first business session of the annual defense secretaries conference at this U. S. Marine base.

He told newsmen Friday that the Air Force has "ample people" with which to expand to its goal of 137 wings by next summer.

At the same time he gave a broad hint that more manpower reductions may be in prospect for the Army.

To questions by reporters, he said it would be possible to maintain the present number of Army divisions—19—with fewer men by streamlining divisions.

This already is being tried experimentally with the recently reactivated 101st Airborne Division. This outfit now has an organizational strength of about 12,000 men, compared with the standard 17,500 for other divisions.

Total military strength as of last April 30—the latest count available—was about 2,635,000. Of that, the Army was 1,054,000, the Navy 671,778, the Marine Corps 198,733 and the Air Force about 910,500.

Wilson didn't detail his reasons for believing that the Air Force could continue to expand from a present unit strength of 131 wings to 137 wings without adding manpower.

But presumably he had in mind such factors as the decreased size of air crews for new planes now coming into operational use.

SAYS CUSTOMER BROKE ARM; DIDN'T CUT HAIR RIGHT

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A barber, wearing a cast on his left arm, testified Friday an angry customer broke it because he didn't like the way his hair was cut.

The barber, Charles Zinna, testified that Edward Balk of St. Louis came into his shop May 22 and asked for a short haircut.

Zinna said he complied, and added that Balk jumped from the barber chair and shouted: "Hey, you took my sideburns off."

The barber said Zinna hurled an apron in his face, and, after brandishing a stool, twisted his arm until he broke it.

The 26-year-old Balk denied the charge.

Police Judge Robert G. Dowd fined Balk $500 for peace disturbance.

Editorial Comment

A Need For Tolerance

President Eisenhower inevitably drew mixed reactions both at home and abroad when he tried to show an understanding attitude toward nations which strike a neutral posture in the East-West power struggle.

He is endeavoring to tread a very delicate course: On the one hand, to woo more peoples into firm alliances with the West, on the other to acknowledge that some may have good reasons for keeping free of such ties.

Within the United States this position annoyed those who believe that neutrality amounts inescapably to consorting with the enemy.

Representatives of certain Asian lands which have joined the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization were likewise unhappy. They seemed to feel that Mr. Eisenhower's approach to the matter suggested penalties might be the reward of those who join the West.

But, as White House spokesmen were at pains to point out, the President does not believe that present SEATO members are sure to have trouble at their borders as the cost of the alliance.

Indeed, his news conference reference to possible border difficulties for those who abandon neutralism probably was not the wisest means of illustrating the point he sought to make.

His purpose is partly to remind Americans that neutrality is not synonymous with hostility. He wants them to realize that peoples which are militarily neutral need not be—and most often are not—neutral in questions of right and wrong or decency and indecency.

In other words, while India may refuse to link up with the West in a defensive pact, it may still be true that Indians understand the real meaning of international morality and have utterly no wish to condone the barbarism of Communist tyranny.

Mr. Eisenhower also emphasized the point which should most impress Americans—that we ourselves took a neutral stance for 150 years. Young nations, as we were and as India is in terms of its independence, seek the time and the freedom to develop their resources and grow strong. They see alliances as handicaps to these goals.

The President's objectives in this field are worthy. We want all the allies we can get. But, remembering our own past, we cannot fairly say to neutrals following a somewhat similar path "You are either with us or against us."

America must show more tolerance than that.

An Important Ingredient

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—World Communists will now follow a line unheard of in Stalin's day: They'll criticize one another. This could wreck international communism if carried too far.

Until that day comes the criticism can be taken with a grain of salt. It is simply following the program outlined by Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev in his speech revealing the crimes of Stalin.

The purpose is simple: A Communist party in a non-Communist country may gain more mass support by appearing to operate as a nationalist party instead of, as in Stalin's day, part of a Russian conspiracy.

Since Stalin never let them open their mouths, the problem for the Red leaders everywhere now is how to criticize one another without causing splits or damage.

This was clearly explained—but in Communist doubletalk—by the American Communist party leadership to its Central Committee two months ago. That was two months after Khrushchev made his speech.

That some self-criticism is the new line for Communist parties everywhere was made plain Wednesday in the declaration signed in Moscow by Khrushchev and Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia. Agreeing to cooperate, they said:

"The two sides have agreed that the foregoing cooperation should be based on complete freedom of will and equality, on friendly criticism and on comradely character of exchange of views on disputes between their parties."

Given some years in the practice of criticism, it is possible that Communist parties will develop internal antagonisms and break off into sects and factions.

If that happens, then all else that President Truman did to try to stop communism may seem insignificant beside his simple decision to give help to Tito when Tito broke away from subversion to Stalin.

Stalin had maintained absolute control of Communist parties everywhere until 1948 when Tito shook loose.

It is no wonder Khrushchev set out, shortly after Stalin's death, to win Tito back as a friend if not as a servant. And he succeeded. But in making concessions to Tito, he showed other Red leaders how badly Russia wanted them not to bolt.

With this new softer approach, it is natural Khrushchev would be willing for other Communists outside Russia to raise some questions about the Kremlin from time to time, provided they didn't go too far.

Soil Bank Plan Becoming Glorified Crop Insurance

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—(NEA)—Department of Agriculture's original idea to keep the soil bank plan from being converted into a glorified crop insurance plan in this year's drought and flood areas turns out to be all wrong. Farmers with damaged crops will now be able to put land in the acreage reserve and get benefits.

The misunderstanding seems to have arisen from the fact that Department of Agriculture lawyers and experts didn't correctly interpret the intent of Congress. The Senate version of the farm bill directed only that the Secretary of Agriculture start the soil bank program with the 1956 program "to the extent that he deems practicable."

This led to an assumption there would be no serious effort to get the soil bank under way this year. THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES VERSION of the bill, however, directed that the soil bank be started with 1956 crops. And when Senate and House conferees met to compromise their differences, the House language was adopted.

Section 103 of the law provides that the acreage reserve may include land not planted for a 1956 crop, or land planted and clipped or plowed under before dates to be set later.

Section 105 provides further that "... The Secretary shall make an adjustment in yields for drought, flood or other abnormal conditions in estimating the base of production for purposes of establishing rates of compensation."

In spite of these clear directives from Congress, when Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson made his early June swing through the Midwest, he declared in a speech before a dairy day festival at Beaver Dam, Wis.:

"We should not make the soil bank over into a type of crop insurance that a farmer can take out after his crop has failed."

THIS STATEMENT really threw mud in the legislative machinery. Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex.), floor manager for the bill in the House, declared that "This bill, in plain words, says that farmers shall have the right to put their land in the soil bank, whether or not planted to the production of a 1956 crop. It includes those farmers who don't have a good crop now. They can put part of their land in the soil bank."

Back in Washington after his midwest swing, Secretary Benson says he got a lot of questions from farmers on the soil bank, but he refused to make policy decisions in the field. The law was too complex. Lawyers were studying it.

In his Beaver Dam speech, the Secretary says he was talking about the long-range, conservation reserve program. He admits that criticism is probably justified because he did not distinguish between the emergency, 1956 acreage reserve and long-range conservation for later years.

WHERE THIS SEEMS to leave the situation is that there will be no crop insurance type payments in 1957-60. But this year, yes, there will be.

How much these payments will be and how many farmers will be able to collect them can't be determined now. Crop damage from drought and flood has not been surveyed. And no soil bank contracts have yet been signed with farmers for compliance.

It appears now that the maximum any farmer can put in the acreage reserve this year is one-half of his allotment, or 50 acres, whichever is greater.

If a farmer's crop, planted this year, is completely destroyed, he will get an appraised yield payment which will be not less than $6 an acre. On winter wheat land, if the farmer couldn't plant a crop for harvest this year because of drought or flood, he could get a minimum $4 an acre.

Secretary Benson makes a rough estimate that as many as 50 per cent of the farmers in dust bowl or flooded areas might become eligible for these payments this year.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Hey, Joe, you wear your pants too long.

Your coat is too long also. But in spite of that, Joe, you are the male peacock of the world the best dressed man on earth.

Who says so? Michael Daroff says so. Daroff is president of H. Daroff and Sons, a Philadelphia firm which this year expects to turn out 900,000 men's suits and sport outfits.

Many an American wife thinks her husband is downright skillful when it comes to taking out the garbage or drying the dishes, but she complains that too often he looks like a walking gunnysack. When she thinks of a well dressed man, she thinks of a Continental type, a suave European.

Daroff, who just returned from an extended visit to Europe, says this is all nonsense—that American wives are married to Beau Brummels and don't know it.

"They should see how European men really dress," he said. "Style-wise, they are miles behind the times. The fashion center for men's clothing isn't over there. It's here."

"American men are the best dressed in the world."

Daroff said a proof of this is that European men, who tend to look down on American husbands as kitchen slaves to their wives, do envy them their clothing.

"They are hungry for American styles," he said. "A 'Made in America' label on men's clothing has come to mean comfort and fashion leadership on the Continent."

"They'd all wear American suits if they could afford them, but they can't—because of high import duties and taxes. On the other hand if European manufacturers shipped over here the same style of clothing they make for their own people, we couldn't sell them. We'd have to give them away. Some of their styles are the same they were showing in 1939."

Daroff, who is as full of statistics as he is of sartorial patriotism, gave these further facts and style conjectures.

"The somber charcoal look is on the way out in America. (At last!) It was too old mannish. A brighter gray, and of course blue, will be the favorite colors this fall. "Double breasted suits are coming back. So is the squarish shoulder."

"What are the most common mistakes men make in their clothing? They wear their pants too long—they should just reach the shoe top, not break over the instep—and their coats, sleeves, too. At least a half inch of shirt cuff should protrude from the coat sleeve."

"About 51 per cent of American husbands are accompanied by their wives when buying a suit."

Do-It Done?

There was a note in print the other day that the do-it-yourself trend was ever so slightly on the wane.

No doubt this word will pass like a forest fire through the hard-core members of the pipe-and-slippers fraternity. They can stop pretending that they really mean to get down to the store next weekend and pick up those tools. They can stop looking busy at their library desks when they'd really like to be curled up with a good book or magazine or squinting at TV.

If this reverse trend takes good hold, the fraternity may widen its beachhead with astonishing speed. There are a lot of reluctant fugitives from the easy chair among those who each week are tumbling off ladders, hammering their thumbs and painting over their mistakes.

The fellow who said "a man's home is his castle" must have meant he should live in it like a king. We know a good many who would like to get out of the tool shed and back in the throne room.

Thinking It Over—

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.
Written for NEA Service

Applause comes freely in our normal way of living. Americans express their appreciation for even a small performance well done. Everyone applauds heroism or spontaneous kindness. We ought to realize that this freedom to applaud is a privilege not granted to people in some countries.

Millions of people cannot clap their hands without an order from political authorities. However, if the directive is given in these dominated nations everyone must applaud. If one should fail to join the mass acclaim he is suspected of disloyalty or of subversive tendencies.

When God created man in his own image he created freedom—freedom to love, to hate, to sin, and to appreciate. There are of course many other facets to the freedom, all of which are basic. The "well done" from God and man has done much to encourage the human race to strive for ever higher goals and ideals.

At no time in history has there been a greater need than at the present time for encouragement to maintain God-given freedom and to applaud man's striving to apply religious principles to every phase of life. We should applaud not only performance, but also man's faith and hope for a God-guided future. It should not be difficult to encourage folk to worship and to do God's will when the world offers so many illustrations of suffering, defeat and degradation resulting from human error, materialistic endeavor and political enslavement.

FOR BEST POISON IVY PROTECTION, SIMPLY STAY AWAY FROM PLANT

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

It is comforting to be able to give a simple answer to a question.

Q—I have developed a severe case of poison ivy but am at a loss to know how I contracted it as the only place I have been in is my back yard. I am afraid now to even venture there since I am not familiar with the plant. What should I do?—Mrs. W.

A—Let someone show you poison ivy and its typical three-pointed leaves so that you can identify this in the future. You can also wear gloves and other protective clothing. You must remember too, that poison ivy can cause trouble at other times than the summer when the leaves are out.

Q—Can you tell me what glutamic acid is? The tablets may be bought without prescription but if, as I have heard, it is used to raise the keenness and intelligence of the mentally retarded, I should think it should not be used unless advised.—Mrs. J. M.

A—Glutamic acid is an amino acid which is one of the building blocks of proteins. It is sometimes prescribed for minor convulsions. There have been certain experimental studies on the possible value of this substance in increasing intellectual performance of those who are mentally retarded. Its use for this purpose must be considered experimental. I agree that this should not be taken except by prescription.

Q—Is a basal metabolism test of minus 12 a sign of a seriously underactive thyroid gland? I am taking a little thyroid extract for this but I think it makes me nervous.—Mrs. M. S.

A—As a general rule, a basal metabolism of only minus 12 is considered to be within normal limits. It is doubtful that thyroid tablets are of much value for most people who have a basal metabolism of this level. If they are tried and produce only nervousness without beneficial effects they should be discontinued.

Q—Please discuss the causes and chances of correcting a child with hypochondria?—Mrs. R. M.

Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However, once a week, in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

Brazil boasts the largest stadium in the world. Called Maracana, it seats more than 150,000 spectators.

A—This is a defect occasionally present at birth in the external male sex organ. Its cause is somewhat uncertain but it may be the result of arrested development before birth. The treatment for it is surgery which is usually best done early in life. The nature of the operation depends on the exact anatomy of the particular defect. The results from surgery are better than in the past because of improved operative methods and the availability of antibiotics.

Q—My mother who is very old suffers with her feet which are painful and keep her awake at night. They are red and inflamed but the skin is not broken.—A. E.

A—In a situation such as this careful study of your mother is called for to find out whether she has some general condition which was responsible, or something locally wrong with the skin, circulation or nerves. Treatment depends on what is found. Unfortunately, some elderly people appear to have difficulty of this sort which is hard to cure.

Q—What effect, if any, does smoking in the home have on a small baby? Do you think the present excessive use of tobacco might be a contributing cause to our low standard of physical fitness?—B. M.

A—I should think that a heavy blanket of tobacco smoke would be just as unpleasant to a small baby from this cause. The second question can perhaps be answered best by pointing out that athletes in training rarely or never smoke.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—At 52, band-leader Russ Morgan is finding himself in a new racket—dramatic acting.

The old coalminer's musical buddies will doubtless flip their lids to hear the news. Russ is pretty amazed by it, too.

"It's a big surprise," he admits. "But I'm having a ball."

It all started when Universal-International talent man Phil Benjamin happened to flip the TV dial to a local variety show. Russ came on for a seven-minute routine, went over so well he stayed for 17. Benjamin thought of Morgan for the role of a bandleader in "The Great Man."

"But I don't appear in front of the band at all," Russ added. "It's a real dramatic part. I'm the only guy who says he liked 'The Great Man.' I deliver a eulogy at his grave and everything."

Russ came to the studio to read for the role. He said that after he delivered just a few lines, the director exclaimed, "This is the one!"

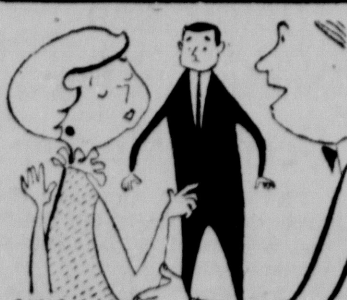

Now Russ is back in greasepaint for the same studio, playing a tough night club mobster who doublecrosses Tony Curtis in "Mister Cory." And he has been sought for movies at Paramount and 20th Century-Fox.

"But I'm not going to push my luck," he remarked. "I think it would be a mistake to be seen in too many pictures at once. I don't want people to get tired of looking at me."

Strangely enough, he started out as an actor. In his early years, he appeared in plays with Raymond Hitchcock in Detroit. But he found he could eat more regularly as a musician, and Russ is the kind of a guy who likes to eat regularly. He took jobs as bandleader-entree in Detroit movie houses in the late '20s.

After that, he played with bands all over the country.

 By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst Secretary Dulles has begun to build up the American stand against what is expected to be the strongest effort ever made to seat Communist China when the United Nations meets next fall.

The secretary has not waited for the results of the Peiping conference, at which the Chinese Reds will attempt to establish a general Asiatic attitude toward Stalinism.

In his San Francisco speech, which was primarily a comparison of the results of Communist and efforts in Russia and the democratic efforts in the United States since the Russian Revolution in 1917, Dulles digressed from his main theme long enough to recount some Chinese sins.

They haven't yet renounced Stalin, he said, and indeed are more brutal than he. While the new rulers of Russia at least profess to renounce the use of force, the Chinese Reds refuse to do so despite patient American efforts to persuade them.

Chinese Nationalist representatives expect a powerful assault on their membership in the U. N. this fall from Russia, India and the other neutralists of Asia and Africa.

There is almost no possibility that the United States will change its position toward admission of Red China before the November election. Indeed it may never change while Peiping is still under U. N. indictment as an aggressor.

There is room for speculation about the more distant future, when U. N. opinion may go against the United States on the grounds that whatever chance there is of settlements with Red China would be enhanced by having her as a member.

FENCES

We need fences. They serve a good purpose. They give protection. But unless they have gates in them, they stop being fences and they become barriers. Without that gate, for instance, Mary Jane couldn't go across to the garden next door, and play with the little girl who lives there.

And, just as we need physical fences sometimes, we need mental and spiritual fences too. We need the privacy of our own thoughts, the sanctity of our own beliefs.

Danger comes only when we build barriers rather than fences around our inner selves. For none of us can live in spiritual isolation. We must have gates in our personal fences. We must permit Faith to enter. We must commune with others . . . and, above all, with God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Housewives Cry For End To Flat Roofs

Flat roofs on homes of the future in most parts of the country are doomed if America's housewives have anything to say about it.

Most of more than 100 delegates to the Women's Congress on Housing in Washington, D.C., agreed that the home to suit their family needs best should have a pitched roof.

According to Miss Janet Shair, of New York City, one of the discussion leaders, the housewives listed three principal reasons for preferring pitched roofs:

1. Space. A flat roof rules out an attic, while a pitched roof automatically creates attic space which can be used for storage and future expansion to serve a growing family.

2. Ventilation. Pitched roofs permit free circulation of air above the living areas of the house. This is particularly important in summer. Louvers installed in the gables act as an escape hatch for the hot blanket of air under the roof.

3. Individual appearance. Pitched roofs normally are covered with colorful asphalt shingles. Color in roofing helps set a house apart from its neighbors, even when homes in the area are similar in architectural design and it gives a home-owner opportunity to express his individual taste.

'DEAD' AIR CELLS ADD TO COMFORT IN HOME

Scientists discovered long ago that "dead" air trapped in minute spaces is a poor conductor of heat. That's why mineral wool insulation, with its millions of dead air cells, minimizes the transfer of heat. This action helps keep the interior of a house cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

Builders Want Packaged Unit To Heat, Cool

Heating and air-conditioning equipment for homes will be greatly simplified if the nation's builders have their way about it.

In the final report on the Air Conditioned Village, Austin, Tex., the Research Institute of the National Association of Home Builders says research at the Village has indicated the desirability of equipment with "proper packaging to permit simple, inexpensive installation." They note that a trend to equipment of this sort already exists.

The Air Conditioned Village consists of 22 similar houses built as a test project in 1954. Since that time, the houses and the families living in them have been the subjects of a series of technical, medical, and psycho-physiological tests.

Add-On Units Wanted

The report calls for year-round air-conditioning systems designed so that the cooling unit can be installed at the time of construction or added to the heating equipment later. The advantage of "add-on" air conditioning, as this is called, is that it eases the financing problem for the home-buyer.

A system which was installed in one of the 22 Village houses, is an example of the type of equipment that most nearly meets the recommendations for "packaging" and "add-on" design.

This system includes preformed round ducts, in accordance with specifications suggested in the report. This saves the longer installation time required for custom-made duct-work. A new type of duct made entirely of self-insulating glass fiber and plastic material is available. This reduces heat gain and prevents condensation of moisture on the ducts.

The same duct system serves for both heating and cooling.

The furnace also serves year around. During the winter, it forces heated air through the ducts. In summer operation, the furnace fan blows air through a cooling chamber above the furnace and through the ducts to the rooms. The cooling system requires no extra space inside the house.

The refrigeration machinery goes outside the house. In line with the NAHB report, this is available with the refrigerator gas sealed in at the factory. This again lowers installation cost.

With add-on air conditioning, the heating components of the system are installed when the house is built. The cooling equipment then is added as the home-owner's budget permits. Normally, no change in the heating system is required.

HOME OWNERS' Question Box

Q—The old wrought iron railing at our front entrance is badly rusted. Can I remove the rust effectively and repaint?

A—The fastest and most effective method to remove rust in this case is with a wire brush attached to an electric drill. After the loose rust is gone, apply an etching solution to cut the hardened scale. A primer should be applied before painting.

Q—I'm building a three-room summer cottage, and I want to heat it so that it can be used for week-ends in cold weather, too. Without going to the expense of central heat, what kind of equipment gives best results?

A—A wall heater, a floor furnace, or a cabinet-style room heater would give excellent results. Engineers call the wall heater "the nearest thing to central heating."

One wall heater can heat the rooms on both sides of the wall in which the heater is installed, and a built-in blower can direct heat into other rooms as well. Floor furnaces also are made in dual-wall models that discharge warm air into two rooms.

Q—We want to partition off our basement with dry wall made of 2 x 4 framing and plasterboard. What's the best way to anchor the bottom of the walls to the concrete floor?

A—Hardware stores have lead expansion shields and lag screws for this purpose. Use a star drill or an electric drill with a masonry bit to cut holes in the concrete floor. Then slip the expanding shields in and bolt the wall shoe down with the lag screws.

POLISH STOPS BUGS

Small holes in screens can be repaired with clear nail polish. When brushed on gently around the edges of the hole, the polish dries almost immediately, making the hole smaller. Repeated light dabbing with the polish will fill up the hole with a clear, waterproof film.

HOT WATER NEEDS UP

A two-bathroom house should be equipped with a 40-gallon or larger gas hot water heater.

Tall Drifter

By W. Edmunds Claussen

Copyright 1956 by W. Edmunds Claussen. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

XXVIII
AN hour later they were together again and had covered seven of the miles on the return.
Looking across the flats toward headquarters they saw a red in the sky, a red that signified the glow of fire. Scalding anger bit into Frank then as he saw Drury lay a quirt to his tired horse.

Drury was thinking now that Rickety, asleep on his bunk, would be unable to escape the flames. And if the ranch was on fire it wasn't by accident. Nor-ring had struck, and in a way
Frank wouldn't have believed.

A mile further they were able to see the flames racing skyward.
The fire had already burned itself pretty low. It had been confined, Frank saw, to the main building, the log house; and Frank felt a swift relief for Rickety. Had there been a wind no building on the flat would have been spared.

Frank turned to Swenson and the kid riding with him behind the herd. "The old night pasture," he said and motioned with his arm. "Alex, stay with them till we relieve you."

Swenson nodded too and helped the kid swing the string around.
Rickety had drawn the blankets from his bunk and sat huddled in these in the captain's chair beside the window. The rifle he had left with him was lined out across the window sill.

Tod Drury was remarkably changed since relieved of his worry. Truculence shown in his craggy brown face and the hard casing with which he cloaked himself by habit was back.
"Don't you know enough to stay in bed?"

"And let Rafter burn to the ground?" Rickety snorted. He set his raw and battered features toward Tod. "Bad enough he got his chance at the log house before I heard him. If I hadn't got in a shot he'd sure have ruined the barn and bunkhouse too."

"Who was it, Rickety?" Jean asked. "Milo Hackett?"

"I ain't dead sure. Only saw the back of him moving around in the brush. I reckon my bullet missed him, 'cause I heard his horse crossing the bridge later."

"We'll leave at dawn. I'll have to take Jean with us, but I don't know what to do about Rickety."

Jean was standing watching the dying flames, her eyes wide as they took in the destruction.
She threw her head back against his chest standing that way with the fiery glow lighting her hair. She had stopped crying and he knew she was finished with that for good. But the hurt was still there.

His arms drew her in. This time the old, dead fires stayed in the past and Janet didn't haunt him.

Frank was not like any woman he had ever known. She went deeper into him. She would not be washed out by time or by any amount of riding, or by misery.
This he knew as he drew her to him. Her arms were pulling him closer in return.

She kept her face buried against his chest so he could barely see her expression. But her eyes were closed. The fragrance of her hair was in his nostrils.

"In the morning we'll ride," he promised simply.

She looked at him with a peculiar smile. "Me too, Frank?"

"You too. There just ain't any place where I can hide you."

NORRING was in his house on B Street behind the bank when Hackett came to him. His first reaction was one of shock as he took in Hackett's condition. None of this showed on his face, as immature and bland as ever.

recorder, Opal Bennett; treasurer, Mrs. Nellie Bagby.

The meeting will be open to the public, with the club rooms to be opened at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

A social hour will follow the installation ceremonies and a buffet lunch will be available during the evening.

To Move July 1
C. A. Barber, who has maintained his insurance offices in the second story of the Hesley Building for a number of years, plans to move to a first floor location on July 1. He will occupy the front portion of the building now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Geisendorfer which was occupied by the late Dr. P. N. Chalson as his office. The premises located on the south side of the square, is being redecorated and put in readiness for the occupancy of the Barber Insurance Agency.

To Enlarge Store
Rex Fenton, owner of the Rex
Furniture and Appliance Company, near the northwest corner of the square, has purchased from Col. W. R. Myers of Crescent City, Fla., the building adjoining the one in which he is located. He plans to throw the two buildings together with archways, and greatly enlarge his floor space, making it possible for him to add new lines to his merchandise, particularly the furniture department, of which Raymond Binns is manager.

LOOK MA, NO BRAKES!
EL MONTE, Calif. (AP)—A gas station attendant reports he got this reply when he asked a motorist about fixing his brakes, which were almost completely gone:
"Nah, don't bother. It's my mother's car."

Del Ennis Sams 12th Homer To Give Phils 2-1 Win Over Cards

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Del Ennis slammed his 12th homer of the season and Robin Roberts gave up only five hits as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 Friday night.

It was Roberts' seventh victory against eight defeats. He has lost twice to the Cards.

The start of the game was delayed by rain for an hour and 20 minutes.

Ennis' homer sailed into the upper left field stands with none on to provide the winning run for Roberts.

Judge Reserves Decision In Claim Against NFL

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—U. S. Dist. Judge Waldo H. Rogers Friday reserved decision on a claim that the National Professional Football League operates in illegal restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

The claim was made by Alvin Robert Nordhaus and Donald Mosses, representing Sam Etcheberry, 26-year-old quarterback who is in the middle of a fight with the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League and the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian league.

Both clubs are claiming his services.

The Cardinals brought the suit to prevent him from playing again this year with the Alouettes. They charged his Alouette contract was predicated to make it appear he was in the Cardinals in the year he signed with the Cardinals in January 1955.

Etcheberry's motion to dismiss contended the court lacked jurisdiction, and charged illegal restraint of trade under the common law.

The U. S. Supreme Court, in similar situations involving professional baseball over the years, has held baseball is not an interstate operation covered by the Sherman act.

The first and only witness at the opening session was Walter Wolfner, managing director of the Cardinals. He testified that Etcheberry "certainly gave me the impression" that he was going to play for the Cardinals in 1956.

Wolfner said the club made no move to block Etcheberry from playing for Montreal in the 1955 season because it was presumed he was playing out an option held by the Alouettes. But this year, acting under an option clause in what he contended is a valid contract, the Cardinals moved in and attempted to win him away from Montreal for the coming season.

Speed is necessary since Cardinal quarterbacks will be required to report for the opening of training about July 8.

The trial will continue through Saturday forenoon.

Meriam Bailey Wins Illinois Women's Tourney

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Meriam Bailey, Northwestern University sophomore, won the Illinois Women's Amateur golf crown Friday with an impressive 6 and 5 victory over 16-year-old Barbara Slobo of Waukegan.

Miss Bailey swept out ahead at the start of the scheduled 36-hole match, and it was never a close contest. For the first 18, she shot a par 75 and held a commanding 4-up lead.

The 18-year-old Palatine girl became a tournament favorite when she led the field with a 75 in the 18-hole qualifying round Monday. On her way to the finals, she defeated defending champion Lois Drafke of LaGrange and Ruth More of Pekin, four-time titleholder.

Miss Bailey was 7 up at the end of 27 but lost the next hole with a double bogey 4 while the Waukegan youngster was scoring a bogey 5. The two opponents halved the following three holes, closing the match.

Pitcher Doing Better After Leaving Stanky

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP)—Fernando Rodriguez, the jolly Cuban, is moving them down in the Texas League and he says it's all because he lowered his pitch so that he comes out of his hip pocket with the ball.

"They can't see what I'm going to pitch," he explained, "and I got a good seaker now. Also, I feel much better in these climate and where I don't have to run so much like this Eddie Stanky make me do at Minneapolis."

Rodriguez has compiled the fantastic earned run average of .066 in pitching for Dallas, which is leading the Texas League. He worked 21 2-3 innings in relief and didn't allow a run and only three hits.

"Say, I'm as good a starter as a relief pitcher," he told manager John Davis. And he pestered Davis so much the Eagle skipper let him open a game. Now he has started four, working 31 innings, and allowed only 4 runs and 15 hits.

Rodriguez is looking toward a shot at the big leagues. He's a New York Giants' chattel and if he gets his chance in the majors it will be through them, although that will have to be next year.

The only thing that has Fernandez concerned is that the roster books have been carrying his age as 36.

"I am only 30," he said. "I make me mad for them to say I'm an old man. It hurt me in baseball."

A mistake was made somewhere along the line in his 12 years of professional baseball and an 0 was taken for a 6, says Jerry Doggett, Dallas publicity man.

Rodriguez started this season at Minneapolis and had a 2-0 record when he asked to be sent away because he said he didn't like the way Manager Stanky was handling him.

Highland golf course was declared unplayable for the scheduled second and final round.

Paul H. Hyde, 67, former president of the Menhollow Club, Buffalo, N. Y., collapsed and died on the eighth green after exploding his ball out of a soggy sand trap. Friends said he had suffered a heart attack about a year ago.

The pouring rain slowed little sign of ending in time for the 205 players to complete the second round and final standings were based on Thursday's 18 holes.

Bixler, 55-year-old rubber company engineer, shot a 2-over-par 73. Clark Espie of Indianapolis, twice the Western Senior champion, was runnerup with a 73.

NINO FARINA ESCAPES INJURY IN RARE MISHAP

MONZA, Italy (AP)—Former world auto racing champion Nino Farina hurtled into a straw bale, somersaulted and was pinned under his 2,000-CC Maserati racer Friday but made another of the amazing escapes for which he is famous.

The accident took place during the tests on the Monza track for Sunday's 1,000-kilometer 600-mile Supercortemaggiore Grand Prix.

At Monza Hospital, where the 50-year-old racer was taken in seemingly grave condition, physicians said examination disclosed only two broken ribs, a broken collarbone and severe face cuts.

For Farina it was another in an incredible series of auto crashes from which he has escaped.

Harvie Ward, 1955 National Amateur golf champion, won the National Collegiate crown while playing for North Carolina in 1946.

Calhoun Wins On TKO Over Vaughn In Eighth Round

NEW YORK (AP)—Rory Calhoun, unbeaten 21-year-old White Plains, N. Y. middleweight, won his 22nd straight Friday night, stopping Willie Vaughn of Los Angeles on a technical knockout in 2:28 of the 8th round at Madison Square Garden. Calhoun weighed 160 1/2, Vaughn 159.

Calhoun, the 13 to 5 favorite, dropped his more-experienced foe for a nine-count in the third round and floored him twice for nine-counts in the eighth. Referee Ruby Goldstein stopped the contest after Calhoun drove home two hard rights to Vaughn's head after the two knockdowns in the eighth.

Although there were boos from the small crowd of about 2,500 that saw the nationally televised contest, there was no question at ringside that Referee Goldstein was right. Vaughn appeared shaky and in danger of being hurt if the bout had continued.

Marlene Hagge Retains Lead In Ladies' PGA Meet

DETROIT (AP)—Marlene Hagge shook off two penalty strokes Friday while shooting a 73 to retain her 2-stroke lead after two rounds of the annual Ladies' PGA Championships.

The Asheville, N. C., golfer threatened to shade her course record 69 posted in Thursday's opening round, but ran into trouble. She regained her strike and came in at 142 to maintain her edge over Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill.

Miss Berg also carded a 73 for a 144-stroke total after 36 holes of play, halfway mark of the tourney.

Betty Jameson of San Antonio, made the biggest move of the day. Her 72, 3-under-par on the 6,415-yard Forest Lake Country Club course, matched Friday's best round and boosted her to third at 146.

Louise Suggs, LPGA president from Sea Island, Ga., slipped on the back nine for 41 in a 76 and dropped to a four-way tie for fourth at 148.

Mrs. Hagge ran into trouble on the downhill 325-yard par four 13th, considered one of the easiest holes on the course. A hooked tee shot rolled deep under a spreading hawthorne tree. Marlene took a two-stroke penalty for an unplayable lie, returned to the tee and played the hole for a double bogey.

Lawrence Gains Ninth Win For Redlegs With 6-0 Verdict Over Bums

BROOKLYN (AP)—Unbeaten Brooks Lawrence allowed the Brooklyn Dodgers just two hits and four base runners Friday night to claim his ninth victory 6-0 as the Cincinnati Redlegs took over second place in the ever-changing National League race on two home runs by Ed Bailey and one by Frank Robinson.

Lawrence, a 31-year-old right-hander, gave up only a fifth-inning single to Carl Furillo and a two-out, ninth-inning double to Jackie Robinson.

He faced only 30 men—just three over the minimum—in beat the world champions, who slipped from second to third in the race.

Bailey and Robinson got the Redlegs, who had lost two straight, rolling with back-to-back home runs off Sal Maglie in the second inning. Then Bailey hammered another in the fourth after Robinson had singled with two out.

The Redlegs, who trail first-place Milwaukee by a game, chased Maglie to his first defeat in two decisions with their final run in the fifth. Lawrence slapped a one-out triple and then scored as reliever Ed Roebuck uncorked a wild pitch.

DETROIT (AP)—Relief pitcher George Zuverink singled across the winning run in the 11th inning Friday night after the Detroit Tigers committed two errors to set up a 3-2 Baltimore victory.

Zuverink's game-winning blow scored Jim Pylburn from third base and dealt the Tigers their sixth consecutive defeat, matching their longest losing streak of the 1955 season.

Pylburn led off the inning with a single off reliever and loser Walt Masterson. When Billy Gardner lined to Jack Phillips at second base, Phillips tried to double c Pylburn at first and threw the ball into the Baltimore dugout.

First baseman Wayne Belardi committed the second error when he threw the ball into center field trying to get Pylburn racing to second. Pylburn continued on to third, then scored easily on Zuverink's hit.

The Tigers scored early off starter Bill Wight, putting across three single runs in the first and second inning on five hits.

ORIOLES Trip Tigers 3-2 In 11 Innings

DETROIT (AP)—Relief pitcher George Zuverink singled across the winning run in the 11th inning Friday night after the Detroit Tigers committed two errors to set up a 3-2 Baltimore victory.

Zuverink's game-winning blow scored Jim Pylburn from third base and dealt the Tigers their sixth consecutive defeat, matching their longest losing streak of the 1955 season.

Pylburn led off the inning with a single off reliever and loser Walt Masterson. When Billy Gardner lined to Jack Phillips at second base, Phillips tried to double c Pylburn at first and threw the ball into the Baltimore dugout.

First baseman Wayne Belardi committed the second error when he threw the ball into center field trying to get Pylburn racing to second. Pylburn continued on to third, then scored easily on Zuverink's hit.

The Tigers scored early off starter Bill Wight, putting across three single runs in the first and second inning on five hits.

Williams Bats Red Sox To 6-3 Victory Over A's

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Ted Williams hit his first home run of the year and batted in three runs as the Boston Red Sox took a 6 to 3 win over the Kansas City Athletics Friday night.

The big Boston hero walked his club out on a three-two pitch off Art Ditmar in the first inning to spring the Sox into a quick lead.

Williams, who had drawn a walk, scored ahead of Williams. Piersall in the third. The fleet Boston centerfielder doubled in the eighth and scored for the third time on Billy Klaus' single to break a 3-3 tie.

Don Buddin homered in the ninth with Sammy White aboard to ice the game for the visitors.

The A's rapped Frank Sullivan for nine hits, including a one-out homer by Hector Lopez in the third, but Boston managed to quell Kansas City when the situation seemed to be getting tough.

Pirates, Cubs Game Postponed After 3 Innings

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The game between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago Cubs was called at the end of 3 1/3 innings Friday night because of light failure.

Umpires waited more than 1 1/2 hours and 15 minutes before calling the game after the field's lights went out with the Cubs ahead 2-0. Repairs estimated it would take some three hours to repair a faulty circuit.

The collegiate rowing course on Onondaga Lake at Syracuse, N. Y., has the finish line only 500 yards from the New York State Thruway.

Three Cleveland double plays helped Garcia out of jams.

CHICAGO (U) — Butcher hogs sold strong to 25 cents higher while hogs were mostly up 25 cents Friday, reflecting a further outback in producer shipment of hogs to market.

Salable receipts totaled only 4,000 head, 1,500 less than expected. This equaled the smallest one day run of the year, set Feb. 17.

Most 200 to 230-pound butchers sold at $16.00 to $16.25 although several lots went at prices ranging to $16.50, to 270 moved at $15.75 to $16.00. Sows brought $11.50 to $13.00.

SOYBEANS GAIN ON BOARD OF TRADE

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (U) — Soybeans displayed a little strength and lard scored fairly good gains on the Board of Trade Friday. But all the major grains turned downward.

Mild hedging pressure and some selling by local traders prior to the weekend were enough to send wheat down. In the final minutes, however, the bread grain rallied from early lows.

Oats and new crop corn eased on receipt of additional moisture in the Midwest. This also limited gains in new crop soybeans to fractions despite a jump of three cents in July soybeans.

Wheat closed 1/4-1/2 lower, corn 1/4-1/2 lower, oats 1/4-1/2 lower, rye unchanged to 1/4 higher and lard 12 to 22 cents a hundred pounds higher.

A little short covering helped soybeans as did the fact the Agriculture Department authorized Spain to purchase 10 million dollars worth of either soybean oil or cottonseed oil. However, cash bean oil was down 1/4 to 1/2 at 13 1/2 to 13 3/4 cents a pound.

Buying in lard appeared to be based mainly on Thursday's Agriculture Department report that pig production this year will be down 8 per cent from last year. Loose lard held unchanged at 10 cents a pound.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (U) — The bond market closed slightly higher Friday with good performance turned in by selected rails, industrials and investment quality issues. Utilities declined.

U. S. government bonds gave ground throughout the list, with losses in some cases ranging up to 1/4 of a point.

Corporate volume declined to $2,880,000 par value on the Big Board from $3,300,000 Thursday.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE

NEW YORK (U) — A day-and-a-half of mild rallying was clipped by profit taking late Friday, leaving stock market prices mixed.

Leading issues showed gains and losses ranging to around 1/2 at most. A scattering of special issues went beyond this either way.

The day began with a continuation of Thursday's advance. Prices improved in early afternoon, then slipped gradually as trading slowed.

Brokers saw the performance as a typical example of preweek-end profit taking as investors evened up their positions for whatever the next two days might bring.

The drying-up of volume as prices weakened was looked upon by Wall Streeters as an encouraging sign for the market's fundamental strength.

Volume totaled 1,630,000 shares compared with 1,820,000 Thursday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 20 cents to $182.00, with industrial component unchanged, the rails down 30 cents and the utilities unchanged.

There was no outstanding piece of news to affect the general picture.

Prices were irregular in the American Stock Exchange with volume at 630,000 shares compared with 710,000 Thursday.

Macoupin 4-H Group Tours Journal Courier

Nearly 200 Macoupin Co. 4-H Club members and their leaders, taking an educational tour of Jacksonville, Thursday toured the offices and plant of the Jacksonville Journal Courier Company.

In groups of 25 to 35, the young people and the adults accompanying them first heard explanations of the complex processes involved in the production of a modern daily newspaper, then walked through the Journal Courier building, watching men and machines at work.

For many of the children, it was a first visit to the plant of a daily newspaper, and interested questions were plentiful.

Of greatest interest to the group, perhaps, was the 16-page rotary press upon which the Journal and Courier are printed. Several of the groups arrived during one of Thursday's two daytime press runs, saw the huge machine in operation.

Among adults accompanying the group on its day in Jacksonville were Mrs. Albert Grichnik, Macoupin County 4-H chairman; Mrs. Russell M. Gordon, Mrs. Nelson Sill, Mrs. Harold Moien, Mrs. Melvin Bristow, Mrs. Charles Johnson, Mrs. Roy Boebler.

Miller May Be Charged With Court Contempt

WASHINGTON (U) — Possible contempt action by the House Committee on Un-American Activities hung Friday over playwright Arthur Miller, who is to marry Marilyn Monroe.

Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) said Miller "very obviously is in contempt," adding and he was certain the committee would discuss the advisability of citing the Pulitzer prize-winning writer "very shortly."

Walter said he was speaking only for himself "but I just don't see we can consistently not cite him."

"Despite June and Cupid," Walter said, Miller would be dealt with just as "everybody else who appears before this committee."

The congressman's remarks were made in an interview filmed for release by the committee.

Miller appeared before the committee Thursday and took the occasion during a brief recess to announce to reporters his engagement to Marilyn Monroe. He said they plan to wed before July 13, when she is due to leave for London to make a movie.

The contempt question arose when Miller refused to tell the committee the names of those who were at a meeting of what he understood to be a Communist writers in 1939 or 1940.

Expert Says U.S. Will Have 7 New Atomic Stations

VIENNA, Austria (U) — A U. S. atomic expert said Friday the United States will have seven atomic power stations with a combined capacity of a million kilowatts by the end of 1960.

Ulysses M. Staebler, a physicist with the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington, made the disclosure in an interview. He is one of the 85-man U. S. delegation attending the fifth World Power Conference here.

Staebler said the first full-scale commercial atomic power station will begin operating by 1957. It is a plant projected by the Consolidated Edison Co. at Rochester, N. Y.

While the United States is building the seven plants, Britain is expected to complete three.

At yesterday's session of this worldwide global energy forum, attended by 2,066 power experts from 54 countries of the East and West, British scientists announced plans for three atomic power stations by 1960 with a joint capacity of over 300,000 kilowatts.

ROBBER TO SERVE SENTENCE IN PRISON HOSPITAL

PEORIA, Ill. (U) — A robber, paralyzed by a policeman's bullet, went to Stateville Friday under sentence of two to four years.

Walter Gibbs, 26, of Peoria, was sentenced in Circuit Court Thursday after pleading guilty to the $729 holdup April 10, 1955 of a poolroom watchman.

Gibbs was shot last September when he and an accomplice were surprised by two policemen attempting to tunnel into a super-market. He has been unable to move his arms or legs since the bullet struck him in the neck.

Officials said Gibbs probably will serve his sentence in the prison hospital.

Ends Long Legal Dispute

Based on the evidence before him, Hoegen said, it is clear the Communist party "is dominated by alien elements abroad, and that it is conspiratorial in character." But, he said, there was insufficient evidence to show employees of the party and its affiliates are employees of a foreign government.

In an earlier ruling, Hoegen held that under a time limitation in the Social Security Act, wages received prior to 1952 could not be disregarded in fixing social security benefits. This restored 13 former employees of the party to Social Security rolls.

The jurist sent him to the hospital in the House of Correction for rest and a checkup. By the time the old fellow was back in court Wednesday his niece, Dr. Caroline Gentile, had taken an active interest in the case.

The niece, who explained that she and her uncle seldom had seen each other, had just bought a 36-room mansion in Lake Forest. It will be ready for her to move in next month.

At the niece's request the judge continued the cause until July 18. "As far as I know now," Dr. Gentile said, "I'm going to take my uncle to live with me. I'm definitely not going to permit him to be committed to a public institution."

From his bed in the hospital old Salvatore commented: "I'll live anywhere it's comfortable."

Wilson Orders All Military Garb Replaced

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson, protesting that too much of a military look isn't good for the capital, has ordered officers in administrative-type jobs around Washington to start wearing civilian clothes.

The order, effective July 1, stirred up mutterings from many officers faced with prospect of paying for new duds. One official said privately the White House already has got wind of the tizzy.

Officers assigned to military departments in Washington have gone to work in uniform since early in World War II. Some, especially among the junior officers, confessed their stock of civvies is pretty much limited to sports clothes.

Wilson's order went out Thursday. It began circulating among astonished officers Friday morning. There were mild reverberations in Capitol Hill, where Wilson was also being scolded for labeling proposed increases in Air Force funds as "phony."

The secretary himself was at Quantico, Va., conducting his yearly conference of service secretaries and other defense leaders. Asked there about his order, Wilson indicated he intends to make it stick but the transition may be gradual to avoid inconvenience.

MILWAUKEE MAN CHARGED WITH BAD CONDUCT

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Freedom of speech doesn't necessarily give a man the privilege of writing his political viewpoint on railroad box cars, Civil Judge John A. Decker held Friday.

Judge Decker gave the ruling in the case of John Neacy, 62-year-old retired railroad brakeman, charged with disorderly conduct.

Neacy was asked to explain to the court why he had inscribed such messages as these in heavy, yellow crayon on freight cars belonging to the Milwaukee Road: "Senator Wiley—Vote him out." "Senator Joe McCarthy is lowering the boom on labor song."

"The Russians stole everything but the fenceposts."

Neacy told the judge: "I'm an old railroad man and I'm merely carrying out an old railroad custom."

Girls State 'Parties' Select State Slates; Final Election Today

Friday night was a night of spirited political campaigning on the MacMurray College campus here as the 466 teen-age "citizens" of Illini Girls State prepared for a Saturday election of mock county and state officials.

Illini Girls State is a mythical "49th state," sponsored in Jacksonville each year by the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Illinois, to teach several hundred selected girls who've just finished their junior years in high school the principles of state and local government.

The girls, hailing from all parts of Illinois, set up and operate the mock state, conducting caucuses, campaigns and conventions and electing city, county and state officials.

Friday activities at Girls State included a primary election in which two "political parties"—Nationalist and Federalist—nominated candidates for county and state offices, and mock party conventions in the evening.

Members of the two houses of the general assembly (legislature) of the imaginary state were elected Thursday. The Federalist party won a one-seat superiority in the house of representatives and a 7 to 3 margin in the senate.

Seek State Offices

Nominated in Friday's primary to seek state offices on the Federalist ticket were Ann Morgan of Marion (governor), Sally Moore of Streator (lieutenant governor), Gail Pierce of Urbana (secretary of state), Pet Lewandowski of Schiller Park (auditor of public accounts), Barbara Saari of River Grove (state treasurer), Judy Larson of Aledo (superintendent of public instruction) and Beverly Beisswinger of Anna (attorney general).

In Friday's primary, each party also named state central committee members. The Federalists were Cherrill Smith of Cottage Hills, Valerie Ott of Berwyn, Angela Wilson of Winchester, Brenda Billhardt of Chicago, Sue Essinger of Wood River and Carol Shellenbarger of Roselle.

Draw Up Constitution For Church Council, Approval Expected

Representatives of 11 of the city's Protestant churches this week adopted a constitution for a Council of Churches and referred it to the churches of the city with the recommendation that it be approved.

The report of the Council of Churches continuation committee was made by the Rev. Gerald Miller of Central Christian Church to the 22 representatives assembled at the Dunlap Hotel on Wednesday.

The continuation committee had been formed in February by a similar gathering of representatives of churches, and had been charged with the responsibility of drafting a constitution and proposing a program for a Council of Churches.

According to the proposed constitution, the Council will come into being when it has been approved by 6 churches. The Rev. Mr. Miller was elected convener, and when the requisite number of churches have indicated their willingness to join the council, he will call the first meeting of the General Assembly of the Council. The assembly is the governing body of the council and is composed of four representatives from each of the member churches, plus one additional representative for each 300 members beyond the first 300. The basic four representatives from each church are to be the minister, one man, one woman, and one young person.

To Organize Departments

Council membership will be by churches, but present cooperative organizations will be included as general departments. Organizations which now exist are the Council of Church Women and the Ministerial Association. It is expected that both these organizations will voluntarily become general departments of the council, with the possibility also of organizing a department of United Church Men and of United Christian Youth.

There are two other types of departments planned in the Council program departments, which will include Christian education, Christian life and work, and Christian missions; and central departments, which are the administrative units and will include business and finance, radio and television, and public relations. Mr. Miller, in his report for the Continuation Committee, said that an effort was made to keep the organizational structure as simple as possible and to limit the initial program to what could actually be accomplished.

Plan Many Activities

The proposed program for the council includes all the cooperative work now being carried on by the Ministerial Association and the Council of Church Women, which includes special day services, chaplaincy service to state institutions, radio programs, youth rallies, evangelistic campaigns, Lenten study classes, and social action groups.

In addition, the program departments are instructed to survey the needs of the community in regard to the ministry to college students, the ministry to state institutions, juvenile problems, brotherhood, and communications, and to propose such additional activities as seem warranted and within the possibility of accomplishment.

It was reported by E. D. Bargery, a member of the continuation committee, that the vestry of the Trinity Episcopal Church has already approved the constitution, and so become the first church to signify its willingness to become a part of the council.

The Rev. Joseph Baus, former president of the Ministerial Association, presided at this week's meeting. Members of the continuation committee have been the Rev. Gerald Miller, Central Christian Church, chairman; Mrs. W. F. Bailey, of First Presbyterian Church and president of the Council of Church Women, secretary of the committee; J. A. Mann, Grace Methodist Church; D. D. Crain, Centenary Methodist Church; Ernest Hildner, Congregational Church; Mrs. Hazel Bell Walton, Mt. Emory Baptist Church; Walford Trumbo, Bethel A.M.E. Church; E. D. Bargery, Trinity Episcopal Church; Rev. Milton Schroeder, First Baptist Church; Harold Nunes, Northminster Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Gilbert Dossi, Faith Lutheran Church; and the Rev. Joseph Baus, First Presbyterian Church ex officio.
